This June, keep an eye out for buildings across [City] to be illuminated in a radiant red glow. This isn't a festive display - it's a powerful symbol of recognition for World Sickle Cell Awareness Day!

Landmarks nationwide are joining the effort to #ShineTheLight on Sickle Cell Disease, a serious inherited blood disorder. By turning red, these buildings raise awareness and show support for those living with the condition.

You can join the cause too! Here's how:

- Wear red! Don a red shirt, tie, or ribbon to visually represent your support.
- Share this message! Spreading the word online and offline helps raise awareness.
- Learn more! Educate yourself about Sickle Cell Disease and how you can advocate for those affected.

Let's work together to #ShineTheLightOnSickleCell2024 and create a brighter future for those living with this disease!
